AP WORLD HISTORY

Summer Assignment 2018 Dr. Shelnutt

(NOTE: Student will need to check out the text from the library prior to summer break and prior to working on the summer assignment. A text should be available by May 23.)

Text: The Earth and Its People Instructor: Dr. Max Shelnutt

Contact information: Maxwell.Shelnutt@wjusd.org

Due Date: First day of class of the 2018-2019 academic year. No late work accepted.

Read: Chapters 1-2 of the text.

Study Guides: For each chapter you are to complete the study guides. Questions from the study guide ought to be answered using your textbook. However, due to new editions of the text, some of the first few questions might not be found in the textbook. In such cases, use other sources (i.e. the internet) to answer those questions. If answers are available in the text, but copied from other sources (i.e. internet), this will be considered plagiarism and no credit will be given for the entire assignment (that chapter study guide). The study guides will act as tools for you to use in studying for chapter test in this class, and as review guides as you review for the AP exam. You must write out your answers (typically on a separate sheet of paper); no typed assignments will be accepted. All work must be your own; these are not group assignments.

Geography Identification: As part of this packet you have been given a list of 50 places of geographic importance. You will best test on you ability to identify each of these on a map provided to you. This test will be given within the first week of the school year (and could be given as early as the second day of class).

Be sure to put your name on any and all assignments you turn in. No late work accepted.

Assignments subject to change at instructor's discretion.

NOTE: If at some point you decide you no longer desire to be enrolled in A.P. World History, please contact your counselor immediately so that they may assist you in your re-assignment.
